Biography and Bibliography

Robert James Weber

Frederic E. Nemmers Distinguished Professor of Decision Sciences
Kellogg School of Management
Northwestern University
Evanston, IL 60208

Birthdate: April 12, 1947     Birthplace: Newark, NJ
Family status: Married, three children

Education:

A.B. 1969 Princeton University (in Mathematics)
     (magna cum laude, Class of 1861 Prize in Mathematics (twice))

M.S. 1972 Cornell University (in Operations Research)
     (minors in mathematics, and in applied probability and statistics)

Ph.D. 1974 Cornell University (in Operations Research)

Experience:

1969-73 Research and teaching assistant, Cornell University

1973-74 Instructor, Department of Mathematics, University of Connecticut

1974-77 Assistant Professor, Department of Mathematics, University of Connecticut

1977-79 Research Scientist, Cowles Foundation for Research in Economics, Yale University; and Lecturer, School of Organization and Management, Yale University

1979-82 Associate Professor, J.L. Kellogg Graduate School of Management, Northwestern University

1982- Professor of Managerial Economics and Decision Sciences, J.L. Kellogg Graduate School of Management, Northwestern University
Bibliography:

Dense families of attainable sets of markets, (with L.J. Billera), Journal of Mathematical Economics 6, 1979, 67-73.

Gleichgewichtspunkte (Equilibrium points), Handwörterbuch der Mathematischen Wirtschaftswissenschaften, Gabler Verlag, 1979, 79-82.

Estimates and information, (with R. Engelbrecht-Wiggans), manuscript, 1981.

Multiple-choice testing, Chapter 12 of Discrete and System Models, Springer-Verlag, 1983, pp. 254-278.

Exchangeable affiliated random variables, (with P.R. Milgrom), manuscript.

Organizing production in a large economy with costly communication, (with P.R. Milgrom), manuscript.

How the U.S. Treasury should auction its debt (with V.V. Chari), FRB of Minneapolis Quarterly Review, Fall 1992, 3-12, reprinted as Chapter 55 in The Handbook of Debt Management, Marcel-Dekker, 1996.

On poker and bluffing, in revision for Games and Economic Behavior.

Recent Outside Activity: Consulting for TDS/U.S. Cellular Corporation concerning FCC spectrum auctions.

Updated 3/31/2015